

CHIROPRACTOR BILL MEETING RESISTANCE

Fight Being Waged On Passage of Bill Number 16

Notwithstanding the fact that the so-called Chiropractic Bill N. 16 has received the endorsement of ministerial, labor, civic, social, business and other organizations, and the further fact that Chiropractic Examining Boards have been established by law in twenty-two states, a battle of both money and wits is being waged, according to the Bill's proponents, to defeat the proposition at the coming election.

The bill reads as follows: CHIROPRACTIC. Initiative Act. Creates Board of Chiropractic Examiners, appointed by Governor and paid from receipts under act; prescribes powers and duties thereof; prohibits practice of chiropractic without license therefrom, authorizing issuance thereof to certain chiropractic graduates and establishing prerequisites of study and other conditions to such issuance; provides for revocation of such licenses; declares chiropractic licentiates shall observe and be subject to all matters pertaining to public health, shall sign death certificates and make reports required by law; prescribes penalties and repeals conflicting legislation.

Under the headings "Reasons for voting 'Yes' on Chiropractic Initiative Number 16" literature issued by the Chiropractors gives the following reasons:

Chiropractic in its philosophy, technique and practice is different from any other health profession or practice.

Thousands of intelligent people attribute the fact that they live and have health to Chiropractic, which is proof of its efficacy.

Everyone knows someone who has been helped by Chiropractic.

Persecution does not stop it but, like all great truths, has helped to establish it.

Only merit could withstand such persecution.

It has high standard of education—higher than present drugless law. Self sustaining—no additional tax on people.

Sets a high standard for and regulates the practice.

Conforms to all Health Board regulations in cases of contagious and infectious diseases.

Protects people from incompetent practitioners.

Does away with expense of litigation in the courts.

In order to properly develop and take its place among the sciences, of which it is one of the greatest, as proven by facts, Chiropractic must have liberty and opportunity through hospital facilities and sanitariums; protection from quackery and charlatanism; educational institutions and practitioners unharassed through prosecutions by its competitors and political enemies. Surely no one would be so unthinking or unfair as to stifle the work and progress of a science which under adverse circumstances and in such a short time has brought so much of health and joy to such a great number of people, by either voting against or neglecting to vote for a bill so fair as the Chiropractic Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Von Hagen entertained the formers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Von Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Churness, of Los Angeles, Sunday at their home on south Arlington avenue.

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE

"California should let well enough alone," is the title of an editorial in Forbes' Magazine for September edited by E. C. Forbes, who is also one of the leading financial writers for the Hearst publications.

"No voter will be confronted in November with a more important question than the voters of California," continues Mr. Forbes, "as they are to vote on a proposed amendment to the State Constitution which would authorize the State to borrow $500,000,000 for hydro-electric purposes. The spending of this colossal sum—approximately seven times the present total indebtedness of the State—would be entrusted to five individuals who would be in a position to do anything and everything they pleased until after another constitutional amendment could be enacted.

Until the Union has more capably or more honestly managed hydro-electric enterprises than California, I personally know the heads of the three leading utility corporations, and I have investigated their present operations. California's utility companies are already thoroughly regulated by a state commission that enjoys the confidence of the public. How the people regard their hydro-electric companies and those running them may be deduced from the fact that the securities of these corporations have been purchased by 150,000 Californians, mostly people of modest means. No dollar can be raised by any utility corporation until sanctioned by the state regulators; hence, there is no room for stock-jobbery or any other financial flim-flamming. The rates charged consumers are so reasonable that the increase in the demand for power has been phenomenal. Not a few industrial enterprises have been influenced to locate in California because of the plentifulness of cheap power.

"Although the majority opinion is that the proposed staggering experiment will be voted down, it is significant that one of the largest insurance companies in America has recently refused to invest in an offering of California hydro-electric securities until after the election. This company feels that the $500,000,000 leap-in-the-dark might gravely endanger not merely the corporations, but the whole credit of the state. Were the great majority of Californians up in arms against wholesale robbery by utility corporations, or were the state being kept back by lack of privately-supplied capital to furnish adequate hydro-electric power, one could understand the bringing forward of such an amendment to the State constitution. But the facts being as they are, it is not easy to grasp why such a step should even be suggested, and it is still more difficult to reason out how any such proposal can have the remotest chance of being endorsed by sensible citizens."

SERMONETTES

(N. W. PHILBROOK.)

Temptation is the real test of character.

It is a rare man who would have his neighbors know him as he knows himself.

The beginning of the Christian life is not an emotion, an assent or a feeling, but a decision.

We brought nothing into this world but we carry out personality, conscience and character.

Christ's words are full of great spiritual facts. We may refuse to consider them, we may banish the thought of them, but the facts remain.

The truths of the Gospel are never at variance with consecrated human reason.

If men will do right they will escape the consequences of wrong doing. Every evil thing in the world exists because men have chosen to do evil.

Pure and undefiled religion needs no trumpets.

It is a command of Christ that we pray for the man that spitefully uses us.

The testimony of the lips must be endorsed by the testimony of the life or words are wasted breath.

True religion has not changed since the day when the prophet said, "What doth the Lord require of thee but to deal justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God."

The widow's mite given in love brings greater returns to the giver than millions of ill gotten money, which founds a college or builds a church.
